

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method is provided for inducing the adaptive immune response of a patient to an antigen comprising administering to the patient an effective amount of a flagellin protein or peptide fragment thereof to induce an adaptive immune response to said antigen.